Restorative Reflection and Healing Event

BSU Faculty, Students, and Staff Welcome

In light of recent events at BSU, everyone is invited to join together in the Circle and its restorative reflection and healing. Participants in this event will share a light meal and engage in the Circle Process to promote healing and create a strong sense of community at BSU.

The Circle Process has been around for centuries, especially observed by indigenous communities around the world. The purpose of the Circle Process is to help advance courageous conversations about sensitive topics that affect our students, our faculty, and our university. The conversations that happen in the Circle are governed by restorative values, allowing for an honest and deeply self-reflective learning process for those who participate.
