Frequently Asked Questions Regarding Student Fees

What are Student Fees?

Bemidji State University assigns fees to all students in order to facilitate the operations of the many on-campus services offered to students for their convenience which are not otherwise covered by academic tuition. These fees are listed individually on the student's e-service account.

Under what authority does the University charge these fees?

Bemidji State University is part of the Minnesota State Colleges and Universities (MnSCU) system. Fees are charged under MnSCU Policy 5.11 Tuition and Fees <http://www.mnscu.edu/board/policy/511.html>

Who pays Student Fees?

All students are assigned fees based as reflected on the chart. Based on the fees paid, the student may take advantage of BSU's wide array of activities and services.

If I want access to services not included in my fees, may I pay those fees separately?

Any student may purchase access to services that are not included in their billing statement. This is done by contacting the Records Department.

How are fees different than tuition?

Tuition including differential, if applicable, generally covers the educational costs pertaining to academic learning and teaching, such as academic building maintenance, classroom facilities, course materials, teacher salaries, college staff, university administration, and the library and its databases. There are some specialized fees that are assigned to specific programs and courses, however, and are not meant to cover all students. These fees are reflected on your e-Service invoice as Personal Property Fee, depending on the type of charge approved for that course.

Can students opt out of paying fees?

Since the services funded by these fees are available to the general student body, they are mandatory for all students.
