Should you ask a student to help with cleaning out your garage? How would you challenge a higher-ranking employee on that racist or sexist joke they just told? What should you do if you go out to eat and your server is currently a student in your class? In this workshop, we’ll talk about the power dynamics inherent to academia, from faculty/student, to faculty/staff, to peers at the same level. We’ll cover some theoretical and organizational bases for power, as well as practical steps and scripts you can use in the classroom and on campus, as well as off campus.
